

sermon NOTES

Investment Principles that Bless the Generations

Deuteronomy 6:5-9

May 11, 2025

1. Begin each day with the reminder of my _____

Psalms 39:4-7

2. End each day with the confirmation of my _____

John 10:28-30

3. Decorate my home with remembrances of _____

Joshua 4:6

4. Attach my daily tasks to _____

Proverbs 3:5-6

5. I am a _____ not an _____

1 Peter 4:10

Digging Deeper: for group discussion in personal reflection.

1. Take some time Deuteronomy 6:5-9. Spend some time discussing over what this passage can mean to us today even though it was written for the children of Israel before they entered the promised land
2. Describe in your own words with the group, but the perfect family unit should look like? Then if you're willing to discuss the different areas that we tend to fall short of that ideal.
3. Describe to the group how you begin and end each day of your life. What is your normal routine and what does that do in a positive or negative way to influence your life? What would change if you began your day and end your day as described in the sermon today?
4. Open the story in the Bible found in Joshua 4 And what we called the stones of remembrances. How can you decorate your life with stones of remembering what God has done?
5. Do you see yourself as an owner of the things around you or a steward for God of those things? What difference does it make?

LifeWay Calendar:

- May 15: Women's Bible Study begins
- May 18: Tim & Cassie Kim to visit. Tim to preach. Luncheon to meet their family following the service
- May 31: Testimony and Gospel Sharing Training
- June 1: Graduate recognition Sunday
- June 1: After service meeting to discuss our visit with the Kim family
- June 8: Welcome luncheon for new guests following our worship
- June 15: Father's Day Worship
- June 19-23: Camp Wauconda Youth Camp (for teenagers!)